May 30, 2012 SOURCE: how to reset samsung scx 4300 printer cartridge. you can not reset this chip change it you must be buy a new one cartridge. I think there's no permanent fix for it in the world (though most of them are possible). Jun 2, 2011 Hi Daniel, I have a scx4600, which is a one button solution, similar to the samsung scx4300, what I did was, I first did a factory reset, after which I inserted a replacement cartridge. the printer then asked me to select a different toner. I clicked on the next button to proceed with the replacement. Jun 3, 2011 There is a permanent fix for the issue you are having.all you need to do is download a file to your computer called "litc" to reset the count to 0. (you have to open the file on a desktop machine or it wont work) you can read more about it here: firmware litc samsung scx4600 how to download and install. 1.You will be prompted to insert a blank cartridge of the same model of your printer. 2.Go to the next step, if a new cartridge is available. If you insert a cartridge that is not of the same model then your printer will restart and the counter will be reset back to 0. 3. Go to your printer and press the next button for several times. 4. You will see a message that says "Toner exhausted". 5. Print a test page for your printer. If it is printing then there is no problem with the cartridge. 6. If the cartridge you inserted is the same model, the message "toner exhausted" should f678ea9f9e
